Dear Friends,

I am speaking today from 1st Corinthians 15 – Unity in Resurrection. From a Christian perspective, death is the great equalizer, coming to us all eventually, yet serving as a doorway into heaven and our transformed resurrection body. Because of the resurrection, the unity that we sometimes struggle for in the body of Christ on earth will be effortless in heaven. I am looking forward to exploring this great chapter of scripture with you today.

On the 26th Svea Merry will wrap up with Unity in Fellowship. The following week our life groups meet, so please make sure that your group members know where you'll be meeting on May 3 for life group brunches and desserts.

We'll send out an email around the end of July with details about the two week summer series Jonah: Second Chances, which Svea Merry and I will be teaching on August 9 and 16. I hope you can join us for one or both weeks.

In the next two weeks we will take an offering to defray the costs of Bible study, like notes, treats and child care. If you'd like to give, we thank you, because your gifts have helped make this Bible study possible. You can pick up an envelope on the table where the notes are and return it to Jennifer Ouren or to your life group leader. Thank you again.

Your friend,
Gretchen Steer
