Hi Friends!

Can I be honest with you... I found this chapter more convicting than any other chapter I've ever taught on. Though it's one of my most familiar passages, the Lord has used it this past week to show me where my words and actions don't always match up. Ugh... how I despise hypocrisy and yet have been an example of it once again!

So, take heart. If you feel the need to write a note or two to someone you may not have loved as God has called you to, you are not alone. The Lord's promptings in our lives are so gentle but should certainly not be ignored. Let me encourage you that He is quick to forgive and keeps no record of wrongs for those who repent. He really is a good, good father who loves us beyond compare!

Please remember that we will not be meeting next Wednesday as it is Spring Break for Rochester Public Schools. Feel free to meet on your own with your small group if you so desire. We will all come back together in two weeks when Jann will be teaching on 1 Corinthians 14. You will not want to miss that!

Thank you for persevering on with us in The Word!

Angie
